

United Nations Public Service Awards

Submission Rules for Nominations

The United Nations Public Service Awards (UNPSA) recognizes excellence in public service at the global level. It was launched in 2003 in order to promote and support innovations in public service delivery worldwide. In 2016, the UNPSA was reviewed in order to be aligned with the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the Sustainable Development Goals \(SDGs\)¹.

The UNPSA is organized and managed by the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs (UNDESA), through its Division for Public Administration and Development Management (DPADM), in collaboration with the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN-WOMEN).

THE PURPOSE

The purpose of the UNPSA is to promote and reward innovation and excellence in public services in support of the realization of the SDGs and the principle to leave no one behind, which is at the core of the 2030 Agenda. It takes into account the various levels of development of countries while reflecting the universal nature of the SDGs.

Through a global competition that promotes the role, professionalism and visibility of public service, the UNPSA aims to:

- Highlight innovations in governance;
- Reward excellence in the public sector;
- Motivate public servants to further promote innovation;
- Enhance professionalism in the public service;
- Raise the image of public service; and
- Collect and disseminate successful practices for possible replication.

THE MANDATE

The UNPSA was created pursuant to the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) resolution of 2002, which endorsed a recommendation of the Group of Experts on the United Nations Programme on Public Administration and Finance (ECOSOC resolution, E/RES/2001/45). ECOSOC called for “the proclamation of a United Nations Public Service Day to celebrate the value and the virtue of service to the community at the local, national and global levels, with prizes to be awarded by the Secretary-General for contributions made to the cause of enhancing the role, prestige and visibility of public service”.

The importance of the Awards was subsequently reiterated by the General Assembly in its resolution A/RES/69/327, which requested “the Secretary-General to continue to provide assistance, in particular to developing countries, at their request, in their efforts to strengthen public institutions and public services for sustainable development ... including through the United Nations Public Service Day, the United Nations Public Service Awards and the United Nations Public Administration Network...”. In 2016, ECOSOC further requested the Secretary-General to continue to promote and support innovation and excellence in public services for sustainable development through the United Nations Public Service Awards (ECOSOC resolution, E/Res/2016/26).

¹ The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development was adopted by all countries members of the United Nations in September 2015. It has 17 Sustainable Development Goals at its core <https://sustainabledevelopment.un.org/post2015/transformingourworld> (See Annex III)

Please add the most recent ECOSOC resolution of 2016

THE AWARDS

The Awards are usually handed out on 23 June, day designated by the General Assembly as the United Nations Public Service Day to “celebrate the value and virtue of public service to the community” (A/RES/57/277). The General Assembly, in its resolution 57/277, encourages Member States to organize special events on that Day to highlight the contribution of public service in the development process.

The UNPSA Ceremony is part of a United Nations Public Service Forum, which takes place in different regions of the world. In 2018, the Forum will take place in the Kingdom of Morocco. For further information about this the 2018 United Nations Public Service Forum and past events, please visit DPADM website.

In order to ensure a level playing field for nominations from different countries, the winners are decided according to the UN regional groups² as follows:

- Africa
- Asia and the Pacific
- Eastern Europe
- Latin America and the Caribbean
- Western Europe and Other Groups

CATEGORIES

The 2018 UNPSA will be given to those public institutions that have distinguished themselves in one of the following categories:

- 1. Reaching the poorest and most vulnerable through inclusive services and partnerships;
- 2. Making institutions inclusive and ensuring participation in decision-making;
- 3. Promoting gender responsive public services to achieve the SDGs

The criteria of the categories are listed in Annex II.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

- The Award is open to all public sector institutions at the national, state and local levels from all UN member states. In the case of innovative partnerships (including civil society, private sector, academia etc.), the nominee must be a public sector institution;
- Both self-nominations and nominations by third parties are accepted. Nominations should be made by an organization;
- The initiative must be innovative and relevant to one of the UN Public Service Awards categories³;
- The initiative must have been implemented for a minimum of two years, with demonstrated and documented impact;
- The application must be duly filled out;
- The submission must include all the required supporting documents;

² The UNPSA Regional Groups are listed in Annex I

³ Once the nomination is submitted, the category cannot be changed even if it was found later that it was submitted to the wrong category. Nominators are therefore requested to pay special attention to the criteria of the various categories when choosing a category under which a nomination should be submitted.

- The initiative must not have already received a UNPS Award.
- The initiative must not be directly implemented, by the United Nations System

SELECTION CRITERIA

- Alignment with the 2030 Agenda. The initiative should aim to improve people’s lives and respond to their needs and rights. It should enhance the contribution of public service to the realization of the SDGs.
- Significance. The initiative must impact positively a group of the population and address a significant issue of public concern within the context of a given country or region.
- Innovation. The initiative must present an innovative idea, a distinctively new approach, or a unique policy implemented in order to realize the SDGs or solve a problem of public concern, in the context of a given country or region.
- Transferability. The initiative appears to be adaptable to other contexts (e.g. cities, countries or regions). There should ideally be evidence that it has inspired similar innovations in other public sector institutions within a given country, region or at the global level.
- Sustainability. The initiative should be able to be sustained and have positive impact on the future generations.
- Impact. The initiative has had a formal evaluation, showing some evidence of impact on improving people’s lives.
- Stakeholders. The initiative must demonstrate that it has engaged stakeholders.

HOW TO APPLY

Who can nominate? Public sector institutions (e.g., ministries, Government departments, authorities and agencies; local governments, etc.), schools of public administration; UN agencies (only for initiatives which they have not supported); universities; non-governmental organizations and private sector.

Who can be nominated? All public institutions at the national, regional/provincial/state, local/municipal/city level from all UN member states are eligible for nomination. In the case of public-private partnerships, the lead nominee must be a public sector institution.

How can nominations be made? A Nomination can only be submitted through the Online Nomination Form of the UNDESA/DPADM website. Before accessing the online nomination form you are required to reply to some screening questions in order to ensure that eligibility criteria are met. In case you require technical assistance in the process of online submission, please contact the United Nations by email at: UNPSA20187@un.org or phone +1 (917) 367 3004.

The deadline for submitting nominations is 7 February 2018. A few extra days after the deadline will be granted for uploading the supporting documents. The deadline for uploading the supporting documents is 12 February 2018.

The nominations can be made only in one of the six UN official languages (Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Russian, and Spanish). However, it would be preferable, if possible, that nominations be submitted in one of the working languages of the United Nations Secretariat, which are English and French. Nominations made in other languages (besides the six UN official languages) will not be accepted.

The Online Nomination Form must be fully completed: all fields must contain the requested information. In the event that any field used to describe the initiative (“summary”, “timeframe”, “narrative”, etc.) is left blank, or if the answer does not directly correspond to the question asked, the initiative will not be evaluated.

NOTE: Each field should not exceed the character limit indicated for each respective question, as per the nomination form. Any character beyond the limit will not be assessed by evaluators.

What supporting documents are needed?

(1) A minimum of two and a maximum of three supporting documents: Supporting documents are any kind of material (implementation plans, evaluation and audit reports, results of client/citizen surveys, books, links to videos, newspaper articles, etc.) the institution may wish to submit to validate and highlight its nomination.

(2) Two letters of reference: In addition to the above, two letters of reference are requested. A letter of reference is a letter written by a third party (i.e., not by the institution being nominated nor by the nominator). It should point out the achievements resulting from the implementation of the initiative submitted, and underlines the reason why this initiative and/or institution is worthy of being awarded.

The initiative must demonstrate and document its impact, including through formal evaluation findings. Institutions are required to upload the above relevant documents through the online system. Initiatives with no additional documentation will not be reviewed.

NOTE: Once the online nomination form is submitted, you will receive an email with all the information on how to upload the supporting documents. Please make sure you upload your supporting documents by 12 February 2018 Midnight Eastern Time (EST) Zone.

Multiple initiatives can be submitted from each country. However, only one initiative per country can be awarded in a given year.

EVALUATION PROCESS

The evaluation process consists of several evaluation rounds, including by the UNPSA Evaluation Team and by a sub-committee of the United Nations Committee of Experts on Public Administration (CEPA)⁴ which proposes initiatives to be selected by the UN Secretary-General. Each initiative is evaluated taking into consideration the context of a given country or region. The evaluation team screens and pre-selects the online nominations vis-a-vis the selection criteria (see Annex II). Short-listed initiatives undergo a process of verification and validation, which is implemented to ascertain congruence between the nomination documents and what happens on the ground.

The evaluation process is strictly based on the activities and impact made by the specific initiative being awarded and not on other initiatives undertaken by the nominated institution. If the preliminary validation for a specific case reveals certain concerns e.g. mismanagement, the case will be disqualified.

WHO RECEIVES THE AWARD?

Awards can only be conferred to public sector institutions that have ownership of the nominated initiatives. An implementing agency is not qualified to receive an award even if it was involved in implementing the initiative on a consultancy basis.

The award goes to the initiative and the institution that is responsible for implementing it, not to the individual that initiated or implemented it, nor to the country as such. An individual cannot be awarded.

In the case of public-private partnerships, the recognition goes to the public-sector institution.

DISQUALIFICATION OF NOMINATIONS

Institutions will be disqualified from any further evaluation for the following reasons:

1. Failure to observe the submission rules for the nomination
2. Any conflict of interest and non-adherence to the process by those concerned
3. Presenting misleading and false information and supporting documents
4. Inability to provide sufficient documentation to review the initiative
5. Unethical behaviour, including undue pressure on any person involved in the evaluation and

REVOCATION OF AWARD

An award can be revoked by a recommendation of the CEPA sub-committee for consideration by the Secretary-General at any point, if it has been established that an institution has failed to observe the UNPSA rules. This decision is final.

needs of the poorest and most vulnerable, trained and equipped to meet them and held accountable when these needs are ignored or when the rights of the poorest and most vulnerable people are not protected.

Category 2. Making institutions inclusive and ensuring participation in decision-making

Introduces an innovative idea/policy/practice/structure:

- Introduces an idea, policy, practice or structure that is distinctively new, innovative and unique in the context of a given country or region Enhance the formal and informal participation of all individuals and groups in public decision-making processes or policies, approaches and measures related to public services and other aspects impacting on their lives. Institutionalize and/or strengthen participatory decision-making and consultation processes at the national and local level
- Strengthen the capacity of national or local governments and public institutions responsible for overseeing or delivering public services to engage people in preparing and implementing decisions, especially the poor and vulnerable people
- Promote a professional, merit based and well equipped civil service to ensure continuous and consistent institutional performance for an effective public services delivery

Fights discrimination and promotes equality

- Promulgates new or strengthens existing legislation, policy, regulation or measure to fight discrimination, exclusion and exploitation, and to extend access to public services and developmental opportunities, assets and resources for all, including women and girls, and the poorest and most vulnerable.

Promotes robust legal framework

- Promotes the application of the existing legal and regulatory framework relevant to anti-discrimination and inclusion, or develop additional laws and regulations that foster changes in norms, attitudes and behavior that combat discrimination, including through promoting diversity, dialogue, interaction and collaboration.

Promotes participatory decision-making:

- Implements new processes and institutional mechanisms to channel the demands and views of people and enables governments – policy makers and public officials – to better interact with the public, particularly individual people, and allows people, for instance, to better express their needs, participate in and influence policy-making; comment on policy implementation; provide feedback on government services (on and off-line services); and file complaints.
- Clearly supports inclusion, participation and engagement of all people, irrespective of sex, age, race or ethnicity, including through focusing on specific groups of the population and especially those in vulnerable situations, so that after the effective implementation of the initiative, all or some of these groups can participate more fully in society and in decision-making.
- Institutes, nationally and/or locally, multi-stakeholder engagement processes.

Promotes responsiveness

Enhances responsiveness of government to the demands and needs of citizens and ensures the inclusion of the views of concerned sections of the community in public affairs.

Promotes Participation through New Institutional Mechanisms

Category 3. Promoting gender responsive public services to achieve the SDGs

This category will be managed in collaboration with the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN Women).

Introduces an Innovative Idea/Policy/Practice/or Structure

Introduces a distinctively new approach to promoting the participation of citizens, especially poor women, in policymaking; this may be through the application of a new knowledge management technique, unique policy, or implementation design in the context of a given country or region.

Provides access to high-quality, affordable services for women

Provides increased access to sustainable, high quality and affordable public services for women; Includes innovations in service delivery mechanisms that cater to the specific needs of women, including the poorest and most vulnerable, in particular responding to the specific discrimination faced by women, their care burden, mobility and access issues and security risks faced by women.

Promotes transparency accountability in service delivery to women

Provides mechanisms that help women to easily obtain information and feedback about government actions, and their own rights and entitlements, to initiate investigations, to convey needs or concerns, or to seek and be compensated where necessary. Ensures that officials are sanctioned when women's rights and needs are ignored or when women's rights for service delivery are not protected.

Promotes participation of women in decision-making and delivery of public services to women

Creates mechanisms to increase the ability of women to contribute to government decision-making and processes, including participatory budgeting and planning processes, and mechanisms allowing people to give feedback on issues related to public services

Promotes responsiveness to the needs of women

Enhances responsiveness of government to the demands and needs of women, in particular the poorest and most vulnerable; Implements new processes and institutional mechanisms to channel the demands and views of people and enables governments – policy makers and public officials – to better interact with the public, particularly individual people, and allows people, for instance, to better express their needs, participate in and influence policy-making; comment on policy implementation; provide feedback on government services (on and off-line services); and file complaints.

Promotes gender parity in public service

Introduces incentives and changes in employment policies, including recruitment, promotion, training, compensation and career management policies, to increase the number of women in the public sector at all levels, including those in the front line and at decision making levels.

Transforms administration

Involves transformation of the way a public institution works, rather than incremental improvements, to promote women's rights and respond to needs of women. These may include innovative ways to deliver public services, including through e-government; a change in organizational culture, administrative reforms, or the overhaul of government procedures for gender responsive service delivery.
